COUNTY MAN MEETS TRAGIC DEATH AT YORK.

Wm. B. Jacobs, of Near Arendtsville, in ill-fated truck that was struck by W. M. Train.

Wm. B. Jacobs, aged 75 years, who resided on the road leading from Gettysburg to Arendtsville, was instantly killed on Friday morning when a truck in which he was riding was struck by a Western Maryland train at the grade crossing on the Lincoln Highway near the Sandusky Cement Plant, West York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs had left their home on Thursday for York where they intended spending the week-end with relatives. Early Friday morning they drove out to the farm of their nephew, Howard Jacobs, near West York, where Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs were invited to spend the day. Howard Jacobs started to York with a load of milk cans on a Ford truck and invited his uncle to accompany him. As they reached the railroad crossing they were engrossed in conversation and the younger man, who was driving, failed to see the train in time to avoid the collision. The truck was carried forty feet up the track and thrown into a gutter a complete wreck. The elder Mr. Jacobs being pinned underneath. He died before he could be gotten from the wreckage, as his skull was badly crushed. Howard Jacobs was injured and was taken to the York Hospital, but was able to return home later in the day.

The deceased leaves his wife and the following children: John Jacobs, of Bucks county; William Jacobs, of near Gettysburg; Charles Jacobs, of Gettysburg; Howard Jacobs, of York, and two married daughters, Anna, of Arendtsville, and Verna, at home. ## YOUTHFUL THIEVES AT WORK.

One Escapes from Jail but is Soon Caught.

Thomas Myrick, Breckenridge St., was arrested on Saturday by Deputy Sheriff George Aughinbaugh, charged with larceny of a number of chickens from Samuel Weikert, of near town on June 8. He was brought to jail and with another boy, Walter Clouser, confined in a cell in the women's department. Sunday afternoon they were allowed out in the corridor for a few minutes and by means of several cracks in the corner of the stone wall climbed to the top and made his escape. Several hours later word was received that he was at the farm of Wm. Bigham, near the Water Works where he had applied for a job. Detective C. H. Wilson went immediately to the farm and brought him back to jail.

On Wednesday morning Earl Sheely and Lloyd Boose, two boys from Mt. Joy township, were arrested by Officer Crabbs, of Hanover on the warrant of Squire Mayers, of Littlestown, charged with feloniously entering the garage of Hobson Crouse in Mt. Joy township, and taking five new Fisk tires valued at $66 a piece. When arrested they were in bed at the home of David J. Harris, near Littlestown, where they were staying. They admitted their guilt and led the officer to a hog pen on the property of Wm. Brown in Carroll county, Md., under which they had secreted the tires. No one lives on this place. They were given a hearing and committed to jail awaiting action by the Court.

York Nurse Pays $100 Fine.

The criminal case in the York County Courts which developed out of the finding of the dead body of a male child in the Conowago Creek on May 14 was disposed of by Judge Wanner in York on Monday when Miss Anna Goff who was involved, appeared before the Court and entered a plea of guilty to the charges preferred against her. She pleaded guilty to concealing the birth of an illegitimate child and fornication. The child was born at the York Hospital where Miss Goff has been employed as a nurse. Judge Wanner imposed a fine of $100 and ordered that she pay the costs of prosecution. The jail sentence of six months was suspended.

Council Orders Crossings Marked.

The Town Council at their meeting last week took up the matter of marking the street crossings. It was decided to have the street intersections in the central part of town painted with safety lines which include eight lines through Centre Square. As an additional protection a new traffic regulation was established which requires autos to be marked at a 45 degree angle with the rear of the car to the curb on the first two blocks of each street from the Square. Harvey Bushman was given the contract to paint the safety lines and started at once on the job.

Chief James Aumen of the Fire Company, asked the council to buy eighteen rubber coats and twelve pairs of boots for the company as their equipment was getting low. He also requested that a sign be placed at all water plugs within two blocks of the Square warning autoists not to park within 15 feet of the plug. Orders for the supplies and signs were immediately granted.

Coroner's Verdict.

The coroner's jury which met in York to determine the cause of the death of Wm. B. Jacobs have returned a verdict of accidental death and have recommended "that the Western Maryland Railroad Company provide additional protection to the traveling public by the installation of a signaling device of some character at this crossing," on the Lincoln Highway.

The testimony of the witnesses was very conflicting, three eye witnesses testifying that no signal was given by the engineer before reaching the crossing, while the engineer and fireman declare that the whistle and bell warnings were both given.

SUMMER ASSEMBLY CLOSES.

Liberal Gifts of Auto and Money for Foreign Missions.

The sixteenth annual Lutheran Summer Assembly which has been in session at the Seminary for the past week, closed on Wednesday evening. It was considered one of the most successful sessions yet held and the enrollment numbered ninety-five. Every room in the Seminary dormitories was occupied and quite a number of members had to find lodging in town.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster and Miss Jennie Streivig, of Wilson College, had charge of the Bible Study; Mrs. Copenhaver, Marion, Va., and Mrs. Michael, Johnstown, Pa., taught the Mission Study books, the former on the Negro Problem and the latter on India; President Herman conducted a conference on Stewardship; Prof. J. C. Seegers, of Mt. Airy Seminary, gave two lectures on the Religious Educational Program of a Parish; Rev. N. R. D. Burt Smith, D.D., Secretary of the Parish and Church School Board, gave three lectures on the Sunday School; Rev. H. R. Gold, of the National Lutheran Council, held daily conferences on the Problems of Capital and Labor and the Church.

The Assembly was rich in missionary inspiration. Rev. Jens Larsen and Sister Laura Gilliland spoke on the work in Africa; Rev. Z. M. Corbe gave an illustrated lecture on the work in the Virgin Islands and Porto Rico; Rev. J. E. Graef presented the work in India; Rev. C. K. Lipard, D.D., the work in Japan; Rev. Henry Einspruch, advocated the claims of our Jewish missions, and Rev. A. Stewart Hartman, D.D., presented the claims of Home Missions. Miss Jorgensen represented the Inner Mission work of Brooklyn.

The Story Telling Hour was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Reese, assisted by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, Miss Tillie Nelson, and Mrs. H. C. Alteman. The singing was led by Rev. W. C. Ney.

On the closing evening of the Assembly a missionary pageant entitled "Lighted to Lighten," by Mrs. Copenhaver and Mrs. Cronk, was given on the lawn.

The practical missionary interest of the Assembly found expression in the gift of a Ford car to Missionary Graef, of fifty dollars to the Jewish Mission in Baltimore, and about $200 for the Theological Seminary in Japan.

Arrested on Forgery Charge.

A. Donald Stahler, son of Rev. and Mrs. William E. Stahler, of Philadelphia, was taken to Lebanon on Saturday from York, to answer a charge of forgery. Stahler is accused, and is reported to have confessed, of forging the signature of Aubrey R. Bunting, treasurer of the Leedom Coal Company, Empire Building, Philadelphia, to a check for $125, which was cashed by a Lebanon bank.

This was but one of four bad checks which Stahler is said to have passed since leaving the employ of the coal company last May. Three of these checks were made good by Stahler's father, who is now staying at Orkney Springs, Va. When arrested on suspicion at York he gave the assumed name of John Reed. Stahler attended college here several years ago.

Swimming Pool Not Deep Enough.

The swimming pool which was opened last week at the Playground has been found to be too shallow so the water has been drained out and plans are now under way to increase its depth. It will be made seven feet instead of five around the diving board and graduated to wading depth at the eastern end. Those in charge of the pool are going to make an effort to have the bottom of it cemented as the present clay bottom is too muddy, and a call will likely be made for volunteers to help with this work.

This makes the third Chamber of Commerce in this county, New Oxford having started one some months ago.

BOLD HOLD-UP ON HIGHWAY

AUTOIST ROBBED OF MONEY AND CAR.

Two Colored Men Pull Off Daring Hold-up Near Cross Keys but Fail to Make Their Escape.

Two negro men staged a daring highwaymen's performance on the Lincoln Highway between Cross Keys and Abbottstown about nine thirty Thursday evening of last week. Two traveling salesmen, S. H. Horsey and H. E. Scott, of Baltimore, were on their way to York. Near Cross Keys something got wrong with the carburetor on their automobile and they stopped to fix it. While they were working with the car two colored men passed them walking. When the repairs were made the two salesmen started the car and had only gone a few feet when they were confronted by the two negroes who had passed them a short time before. They were armed, and drawing their guns on the two in the car, ordered them to "shell out." Horsey, who was driving, had a revolver lying on the seat beside him with which he took hasty aim and fired while the colored man fired two close shots at him, one entering the door beside him and the other went into the back of the seat at his side. Had the latter shot been but a few inches to the left it would in all probability been fatal. After the exchange of shots the two salesmen got out of the car, realizing they were shooting at a disadvantage while the negroes had a still target. They were then forced to give up all the money they had with them, which was $129, a Colts automatic revolver and their car. The highwaymen got in the car and started away when one of the victims suggested that they might be sports enough to leave them a little change whereupon the treasurer of the party very magnanimously handed Horsey and Scott each a five dollar bill out of the plunder, then departed. Horsey walked to New Oxford where the police in all nearby districts were notified. C. H. Wilson, of this place promptly started in search of the men but had understood the message to say two young men instead of two colored men and they passed him on York street unnoticed. Satisfying himself that they were not east of town Mr. Wilson returned and got Sheriff Hartman and went west on the Highway where they were joined by C. H. Mundorff, constable of Franklin township, and R. E. Deardorff. Near Cashtown they caught up with the fugitives who surrendered quietly in the face of their armed pursuers. The gun and the money were recovered and the car was found parked on York street. The negroes who gave their names as Robert Smith and Charles Page, of Baltimore, were given a hearing and held for court without bail.

Money in Politics.

DEMOCRACY'S GREAT RECORD

PEACE AND DISARMAMENT
BLOCKED BY CONSPIRACY.Present Conditions Due to Partisanship and Hope for Future in Democracy's World Program.

Cordell Hull, Democratic National Chairman, made a great speech at Des Moines on August 2, which every Democrat and American should read.

"No national political organization," he said, "was ever subjected to as many extreme tests as an agency of Government in peace and in war as was the Democratic Party from 1913 to 1921. It was in complete control of the Federal Government during this epochal period, barring the Republican control of Congress in 1919-20, and so was charged with all the duties and responsibilities of leadership—civil and military—in both our domestic and foreign affairs.

"The American people are now realizing the general fact which every impartial historian of the future will record, that the Democratic Party gave the people honest and efficient governmental service.

"The unparalleled prosperity under the Democratic rule contrasted with the most destructive industrial panic of modern times under Republican rule during 1921-22, coupled with the outstanding fact that the three previous panics since the Civil War either occurred under Republican Administration or developed under Republican legislation, forever explodes one of the most outrageous slanders and trick-campaign cries of the Republican leadership.

Position of Progressives.

"When the Democrats assumed control in 1913 they promptly proceeded to enact and adopt each and every wise and sound progressive measure and policy demanded or needed by the country. These embraced more than Republican Progressive leaders had stood for. The Republican Progressive rank and file, as a result, largely supported the Democratic ticket in 1916. Many of the so-called Progressive leaders, however, during and since 1916, sukked and crept back into the stand-pat Republican camp and fell in behind the leadership of Penrose, Lodge, Newberry and other reactionaries. Such 'progressive' leaders thereby demonstrated their utter insincerity. Progressive Republicans in the United States Senate even voted to elect Penrose Chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee, thereby tying their own hands. In other words after the Democratic Party had clearly demonstrated to the country that it alone could be looked to and depended upon, then as now, to run into effect all sound, wholesome, progressive ideas, the so-called Republican Progressive leaders, having neither the courage nor the patriotism to support the Democratic, quietly went back to become 'howlers of wood and drawers of water' for the Republican Old Guard. A limited number did come with the Democratic Party.

"The sum total of actual events of the past ten years is that while the utmost good faith has characterized the course of the Republican Progressive masses and some of the leaders, there has been and is to-day a conspicuous amount of insincerity and dishonesty among many of the Republican Progressive leaders. With precious few exceptions these leaders kept the term 'progressive' buried from 1916 until the Harding Administration began to go to pieces in 1921-22. It was only after the terrible reaction against the Harding Administration set in in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Iowa and other States that many 'self-styled' 'Progressive' Republican leaders began to appear on the surface.

"One indestructible fact now stands out above all others, and that is that while much noise, acclamations, the activities and agitations of Republican Progressive leaders, the Democratic Party alone has been able to write progressive ideas into laws in the past, and it alone will have the power and the will to do so in the future. Even the mighty Roosevelt could not wrench the Republican Party from the control of the great predatory interests.

"Let another big fact damning to the present Republican Administration not be overlooked; and that is that the votes of the Democrats in the two Houses of Congress, aided by those of a few Western Republicans, compelled recognition of the few rather piecemeal and temporary measures for the relief of the farmers which have been enacted under this Administration.

Credit for War Prosecution.
"In 1917 the nation was drawn into the World War. Being charged with all the responsibility of leadership, it clearly followed that in the event of the failure or breakdown of America's efforts to prosecute the war in a creditable and satisfactory manner, the responsibility would be laid at the door of the Democratic Party, then in control of the Government. No one, not even the most venomous Republican leader, now questions the speed, the ability and the wonderful effectiveness with which America prosecuted the war. It is true that to our nation's wonderful war record through selfish fear that the Democratic Party might be justly credited with the wonderful part it played in its position of leadership. Democrats, upon the other hand, have freely and ungrudgingly given fullest credit to all the masses, irrespective of party, for their exhibition of equal patriotism, and to those of the Republican leaders who likewise did their full part.

"For some years following the Spanish-American War Republican leaders, in their speeches and campaign books, gave no credit to Democrats, but loudly boasted that they fought and won the Spanish-American War. Senator Lodge, addressing the Republican National Convention in 1900, proclaimed that the Republican President and Republican Congress were the agencies of the American people for the successful prosecution of the Spanish-American War, while he carefully omitted to mention the part a single Democrat played therein.

"As a single illustration of the wonderful efficiency of our Government in this connection, the methods and policies of financing the war may be briefly referred to: in the first place, the ablest financiers and economists the world over are pointing with admiration to the great wisdom and soundness with which America financed her share of the war, and are admitting that our methods of war financing were far superior in every essential respect to those by which other Governments financed the recent World War. In this connection some of our Republican leaders, in their characteristic efforts to mislead the people, are suggesting that the present Republican Administration has brought the value of Liberty bonds back to par. The unvarnished truth is that while the Administration is entitled to credit in this respect, it is the most damaging kind of credit. The one big and unexpected factor in restoring Liberty bond values was the great Republican industrial panic through which the country has been passing and the resultant vast amount of idle surplus money which is afraid to venture into industry, but which does recognize Liberty bonds as a wonderful investment.

"The Democratic Administration most wisely arranged the world debt both as to maturity and redemption privileges, so as to assure adequate control to the Treasury over the refunding and liquidation of the debt. The debt was spread over such a period as will best permit surplus revenue receipts to be applied to its payment as they naturally arise. The far-sighted judgment of Treasury officials was never better exhibited than in fixing the bond interest rates accurately and scientifically so they would meet the post-war financial situation. No interest rate for our war bonds that might have been fixed at the time would have been stable. Even a 6 per cent. interest rate at that time would not have remained stable, and besides it would have broken to pieces the market for other securities. Had the public tried hard to hold on to its bonds purchased during the war instead of hopelessly overloading the security market by dumping vast amounts of it, Liberty bond prices would never have gone so low. The vast amount of idle money of the country, and not any Administration, is responsible for the large investment demand which rather suddenly brought Liberty bonds back to par. Save for the Republican panic they would have returned to par more gradually and certainly more permanently, as well as earlier.

World Program Proposed.

"At the conclusion of the war in November, 1918, the Democratic National Administration carefully conceived, prepared and proclaimed the soundest and most comprehensive reconstruction program adopted by any other Government following the World War or any other war. This great program was designed to return with little friction or injury all phases of our financial, business, economic and social affairs to their natural and normal condition at the earliest possible date. This program covered all phases of our domestic affairs, as well as such phases of international affairs as plain duty and enlightened self-interest demanded. The first requirement was the restoration of conditions of peace in all important countries. This condition was universally recognized as a prerequisite to the return of the various nations to the work of production, which was the second objective in the reconstruction program. It was all important that the 300,000,000 people of Central and Eastern Europe should go to work at once and gradually catch up with production. This course would enable those countries to produce and sell their products—thus gradually strengthening their credit, to balance their budgets, restore sound currency systems and maintain the exchange situation, with the general result that sound, natural and healthy domestic and international financial and trade conditions and relations would be developed or maintained. The effective co-operation, especially, of the commercial nations thus to start the world back toward normal political, economic and social conditions in 1919, was all-important unless they were to be permitted to slide in the opposite direction toward hopeless confusion, if not chaos.

"There can now be no remote doubt that such moral and economic co-operation between America and the more stable countries of Europe in 1919 could and would have prevented the economic collapse of Central and Eastern Europe. I say this for the conclusive reason that financiers and statesmen both in America and Europe, are to-day proposing the identical policies urged by the Democratic Administration in 1919 and 1920 as being absolutely necessary for the financial, industrial and economic rehabilitation of Europe, upon which stable and permanent American prosperity now and in the future absolutely depends. The fundamentals of the Democratic foreign policies have therefore been proven to be sound from the beginning.

"The reconstruction program of the Democratic National Administration, in addition to its contemplation of the establishment of conditions of peace, provided for early disarmament by all important nations, not as to a few major battle-ships merely but on land, on the sea, under the sea, and in the air. A their step provided for correspondingly equitable tax reduction and readjustment; also such economic co-operation with our European customers and such financing of our exports as would maintain sound, reciprocal market conditions to the end that the producers of American surpluses would have ready markets at prices fixed by the law of supply and demand. The Democratic program also embraced the early return of public utilities to private operation, vigorous handling of the high cost living problem, the speedy demobilization of the army and navy, early removal of war restrictions, laws, and regulations, speedy budget and water power legislation, punishment of criminal profiteering, suppression of wild speculations, cautiously dealing with credit expansion, promoting the full and peaceful employment of labor and capital, these and other wise and needful proposals were contained in the Democratic reconstruction program.

The Republican Opposition.

"The vicious National Republican leadership, instead of giving patriotic co-operation to the Democratic Administration during 1919-20, no less needed than during the war, turned upon it with all the fury of mad men. They practically denounced the maintenance of any kind of foreign relations and insisted that America could live within herself. They screened their outrageous conduct behind the false cry of '100 per cent. Americanism'—a term that they unctuously and virtuously applied to themselves. This term has since been found in practice to mean jobs for pot-house politicians. It has since been translated into high taxes, hard times, ship subsidies, and into Newberryism, Daughertyism, and general incompetency and corruption in Government. These rabid politicians dead-locked the Government during 1919 and 1920. They, for example, deliberately delayed the enactment of railroad legislation from May, 1919, until late in February, 1920, while an increased governmental expenditure of $1,000,000,000 was entailed. They delayed the enactment of a shipping policy until May, 1920, with the result that the Treasury was obliged to expend $1,600,000,000 in the meantime. Their policies of delay and of bitter partisanship were equally destructive. The Republican Congress did nothing during the regular session of 1919-20.

In the meantime, the helpless nations of Europe, our best customers for foodstuffs and raw materials, deserted and denied even our moral and economic co-operation, were drifting helplessly from bad to worse. Vicious Republican leaders determined to rule or ruin did not stop with their opposition to the League of Nations, which was but one factor, but proclaimed the reversal of all Democratic foreign policies, political, economic and social.

"The Democratic Party stands today, as it has always stood, for the fundamentals on which our system of free and representative government was founded. It clings steadfastly to the doctrine of local self-government and against federalism. In striking contrast with the Republican doctrine of materialism alone in our governmental affairs, Democrats believe that human rights and human welfare, in addition, should be given every consideration by those in charge of the Government. Ours is not a country for class domination or caste rule, as reactionary Republican leaders teach, but the doctrine of rule by the people, as Jefferson taught, must be maintained.

"The Democratic Party to-day is the only political organization that has a true grasp of all phases of our national life. It represents the true voice of America. Democrats keep pace with every phase of our national progress and with changing circumstances. They have vision, practical ideals, sound, progressive and liberal views. They continue in perfect harmony with that great body of progressive and liberal thought that gave the nation a Federal Reserve system, which reactionism had denied to the American people for forty years; that gave the country such a wonderful list of wise, constructive legislation from 1913 to 1916, which reactionism had ignored for a generation; that recently gave Ireland autonomy, after reactionism had stupidly and blindly kept England and Ireland at war for seven hundred years; that first accurately visioned America as the great outstanding figure in the world of finance and commerce, and hence the world leader, while reactionism has not yet seen as far as Hell Gate. The Democratic Party is the only party that sees and intelligently grasps all phases of our domestic, economic and social conditions and their true relation to the world situation."

FROM BUCHANAN VALLEY.

Annual Field Mass to be Celebrated
Sunday, August 15.

Recently the papers mentioned Gettysburg and Chambersburg as two objectives of the Historical Tour which had New York City for its eastern starting point, but a good many of the papers didn't mention that just half way between Gettysburg and Chambersburg, Buchanan Valley was visited by thousands of tourists. Of late years the Valley is more and more frequented by those seeking the Great Open Spaces. A land agent has said that in a short while Buchanan Valley will be straddled with summer cottages of people who are wearying of the rush and roar of the Lincoln Highway, where so many summer bungalows are located.

One reason for the historical students taking a particular interest in Buchanan Valley is because the famous white squaw, Mary Jemison, was stolen from her home there by the Indians in 1758. A statue to this noble woman graces Letchworth Park, New York. Her biography has recently entered upon its 20th edition. Last year Judge W. Rush Gillan of Chambersburg, delivered a lecture on Mary Jemison, that was copied in many papers.

There's a rumor afloat that soon a tablet in Buchanan Valley to commemorate its white squaw daughter.

Another reason for the tourists' visits to Buchanan Valley is the Old Jesuit Mission, standing there, fresh and viril, as if it were built only recently, and not 105 years back. The church is a solid splendid little structure, and is the pride not only of Buchanan Valley, but of Adams County. It's one of the real sights. On a beautiful elevation, the old mission church towers, with its back turned humbly away from all the natural beauty that stretches behind, as if it found nature a distraction to its monkish meditations.

A noted traveler said that the Blue Ridge Mountains, as they look in Buchanan Valley, girding the ancient mission, appealed to him far more than the Rockies in their barren strength.

This year again for the benefit of tourists a Field Mass is offered on the brow of the hill Aug. 15 at noon sharp. The handsome vestments, masterpieces of needlework, employed in this annual Field Day service, are always a matter of enthusiastic comment.

A tourist remarked to Father W. W. Whalen, the rector of the Old Jesuit Mission, that Mary Jemison lived to the age of 90 in spite of all her hardships. The priest gave him a Celtic smile and an answer in unmistakable brogue: "You see Mary was Irish, and so a good loser. Hers is pretty much the story of her race—bumps and more bumps, and she passed her earliest youth in Buchanan Valley, where it's a matter of no surprise for folks to see 90. One of the nearest parishioners to the church is now 94. 'Dad' Theodore 'Kimple'."

The "Quaker City Mountaineers," a Philadelphia club of ladies, are enjoying the cool winds and winding Blue Ridge paths of Buchanan Valley. They are staying at the "Cocoa-Cola Lodge," guests of the York Hunting Club, and are entertained by Mrs. Starn, of York. The party this week embraces Edythe A. Engler, Florence Hitchins, Mrs. M. A. Cramer, Mildred and Everett Cramer, Mrs. Wm. H. McIntire, Misses Alda and Clara Yeutter, all of Philadelphia, and Masters Wm., Chas., and Frederick Hettzell, of York.

BACK BAD TODAY?
Backache is usually kidney-ache and makes you dull, nervous and tired. Use Doan's Kidney Pills for weak kidneys--the remedy recommended by your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor.
Edward Newman, 26 Franklin St., Gettysburg, says: "I surely can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved to be all that is claimed for them in my own case. A number of years ago my kidneys were in poor shape. For a long time my back was in so weak and disordered a condition that I could hardly lift anything and when I bent over, those knife-like pains never failed to shoot across my kidneys. Mornings I felt sore in my joints and limbs and would be all tired out. My kidneys were too free in action and I was bothered during the night. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in Doan's Directory and got a few boxes of them. They did away with all the backache and put my kidneys in the best of shape."
